2013: A Celebratory Year for US

It's rare that any organization can claim to have been around for a hundred years. The postage stamp was 73 years young by the time the RPA was founded in 1913. Mail was the primary affordable person-to-person means of communication back then, delivered twice daily to most households in the US. It was the humble stamp on that letter or parcel that made it possible, acting as a tiny ambassador depicting and promoting the people, places, culture and events of the issuing country.

So much has changed this past century: Man has explored the deepest depths of the ocean, conquered the highest mountains, walked on the moon and sent spacecraft to the very edge of our galaxy. Emails and texting send messages instantaneously to anyone with a computer or phone. However stamps and the mail still play a role in today's world, ensuring a future for our hobby.

Tonight we can proudly call ourselves stamp collectors and members of the Rochester Philatelic Association. Thank you for your comradeship and willingness to share your time, knowledge and talents furthering the goals of the RPA. There's more to come! Attend our big ROPEX/NTSS 2013 Stamp Show in May!

Special thanks to...

The Early Years of the RPA

(Excerpts from the online club history)

It all began officially on March 26, 1913 at 8 PM in the lobby of the Hotel Rochester. Two weeks earlier, on March 12, thirteen men banded together agreeing to call themselves the Rochester Philatelic Association and paying their $2 annual dues to become founding members. These men were: L.S. Richardson (President), M.F. Otty (Vice President), Fred E. Merritt (Treasurer), Freeman C. Allen (Recording Secretary), Paul Wild (Librarian), Wolf H. Amberg, L.L. Albright, Harvey J. Haddleton, Dr. George P. French (a nationally recognized philatelist at the time), M. R. Burton, Dr. Sigmund Handler, William A. Carr and John S. Williamson.

Two other attendees decided not to join, but by the meeting on the 26th, some 19 paid members were present. The men agreed to meet the fourth Wednesday of every month to further their collecting interests. There was no actual rental fee for meeting in the Hotel Rochester's lobby, however minutes of the next few gatherings note that 50 cents was paid each night to the porter, who made the scheduling arrangements with the hotel.

From the beginning there were strong ties between the RPA and the already established Rochester Numismatic Association, with some members belonging to both groups. There were early discussions to determine if the two groups could jointly find a common meeting place, which never came to fruition.

In fact, finding a permanent meeting site was always a problem in the early stages of the RPA. Over the next few years the RPA met at the Surrogate Court Room of the Monroe County Court House, the Rochester YMCA, the Elwanger Barry Building (where Paul Wild had his Covert Stamp Company office) as well as the Hotel Rochester. One reason was economic, as 50 cents for the porter was a tidy sum in those days. The other was for space, as the membership ebbed and flowed.

The RPA agreed to join the American Philatelic Society in a meeting on September 24, 1913. By November 26 there were four junior members in the club who each paid dues of 50 cents per year. The first woman member joined in June, 1914, referred in the minutes as "Mrs. Zimmerman." She paid her dues at that meeting, but her name never again appears in latter RPA meeting minutes as attending.
