UNITED NATIONS 1967

The United Nations Postal Administration will issue its first commemorative stamp and miniature sheet in its series on United Nations Art on November 17, 1967.

The sheet will be made up of six 6¢ stamps with a slit perforation (Line roulette). It will picture the famed stained glass window in the lobby of the United Nations Secretariat building.
The sheet will measure 123 mm X 81mm or approximately 5 X 3½ with a printing of 3,250,000.

A six cent stamp will also be issued on the same date. This stamp will depict the upper centersection of the window, called "Kiss of Peace". There will be a printing of 3,500,000 of this stamp which will 25.3mm X 43.1 mm perforation to perforation.

COLLECTING FREAKS AND ODDITIES

BY

Walter O. Wilson

Almost all stamp collectors, regardless of their specific interest in stamps, point with pride to some of the unique and unusual items it has been their good fortune to procure in the course of their collecting activities. This has been emphasized recently in the popularity of the inverted Dag Hammarskjold stamps.

However, every collector frequently handles stamps which are comparatively unique, and it is only a question of being alert to the possibilities in order to assemble a collection which will pique the interest of any other collector he chances to meet.

Freaks and oddities fall into several classes, of which a few are:

1. A picture which is peculiar, or which has faults in drawing or printing.
2. A cancellation which is unusual because of the use of slogans or pictures.
3. Mis-spelled words on stamp or cancellation.
4. Wrong dates, or special days.
5. Peculiar names of places.

The above do not apply to any one country or issue of stamps, so every stamp you handle has possibilities. The important thing is to mount the stamps on separate pages with descriptions of the uniqueness in large print which a person may read at a glance.

My four albums of freaks and oddities are mounted in alphabetical order of country of origin, and generally it appears that the most fastidious designers and printers are the source of the greatest number of errors of various kinds. When a friend has had an opportunity to look through one of my books, I make it a point to ask him which item was most intriguing. And, interestingly enough, practically no two have the same favorite. This also gives me ideas as to what else to look for.

My advice to anyone who wants to have items interesting even to people who do not collect stamps, is to be on the outlook for the unusual. Some are regularly listed in the catalogs; others remain for you to discover. And many of the stamps you pick will be just as unique as the one cent Br. Guiana; there will never be another.
