And Now What?

Ronald H. González, MD
November 19, 2013
Disposing of a stamp collection

- Due to sickness
- Financial hardship
- Got tired of it
- Not able to maintain it
- Death
Stamp collecting is a hobby. Have fun with your stamps. Remember you don’t make money, the dealer will!
Store things in a safe place, not in the attic, basement or a closet. Get philatelic insurance. Prepare a “Philatelic Will”.
The A, B, C’s of Estate Planning

- Advance planning for the disposal of your collection
- Build a valuation document
- Cataloguing your collection
The First Step in the estate planning process for philately is to state what the individual wishes to accomplish with regards to the disposition of his/hers collection.
“Check List” for your Estate Planning

- Get organized and stay organized
- Prepare an Inventory
- Prepare a reasonably accurate valuation
- Record special bequests
- List options for disposal
- Prepare instructions for your administrator
- Consider the Tax Implications of the sale
Get organized and stay organized

- Keep the collection together.
- Keep exhibits together.
- All notes and research are valuable.
- Printed albums help organize items.
- Use stock books and arrange by catalog numbers.
- Keep stamps with stamps, covers with covers, etc.
Prepare an Inventory

● By hand or by computer.
  - Use a notebook
    ● Keep inventory the old fashion way
    ● Use it as your “Have List” or “Want List”
  - Computer program- database or stamp programs
    ● Use of Excel or Lotus
    ● Outlook
    ● Commercial Programs
    ● Other software
Keep documents

- Keep certificates of expertization
- Keep copies, pictures, videotapes, etc.
- Keep documents in a safe place
  - Safe deposit box
  - At work
  - At neighbors
  - Family members
Prepare reasonable valuation

- Obtain appraisals
  - From dealer
  - APS Estate Advisory Service
  - ASDA, ISDA
  - Friend
  - Are they really needed?
Appraisals

- Dealers charge by the hour or flat fee.
- Charge for traveling.
- Do they know what they are doing?
- Not everyone is an expert!
- Be careful with mailing collections for appraisals. It may be a trap. Who pays for shipping? Who pays for the return mail?
- They may kidnap your collection
Appraisals

- Keep copies of what you send out for appraisal.
- Keep track of what you paid.
- Trust NO ONE! They are not your friends!
- Do not leave dealers alone with your stamps.
- Sale “as is”, no take back.
Lawyers

- Do your family need a lawyer?
- They are expensive.
- Do they know what they are doing?
Record Special Bequests

- Put it in writing!
- What to donate?
- What to sell?
- What to give away?
Donations

- To museum- may be a bad idea.
  - Items stolen
  - Replaced
  - Misplaced
  - Improper storage
Donations

- Boys or Girl Scouts
- APS, AP expertizing committee
- Smithsonian Museum in DC
- Spellman Museum in MA
- Veterans
- Salvation Army
- Charities
List Options for Distribution

- Make a list of dealers
- Make a list of friends
- Make a list of stamp clubs

They know what you have. You are the expert in your own area.
Disposal

- Throw away “the trash”.
- Or just give it away.
- Don’t break down the collection. You will keep the junk.
Consider selling while you are alive.

Sell one at a time
   At stamp club
   On line
Sell all
   Another collector
   To a dealer
   Auction house
Prepare instructions for your administrator

- Tell your spouse or heirs what you have.
- Don’t lie or hide items.
- If they don’t know what you have, they will be taken to the cleaners.
- State condition of items.
- State the name of your insurance, number, amount, location, expiration date.
- Pay the premium!
Prepare instructions for your administrator

- Where to sell your collection.
- Where is your inventory?
- Caution with keeping it in a safe box.
- May keep an electronic copy in your computer and keep a backup, but not in the house.
- How quickly the dispersal should be made.
Literature

- Save old auction catalogs, when purchasing expensive items
- State the provenance when appropriate
- Save special stamp catalogs
- Save articles, they are valuable for research
- Save awards and prices of old exhibits
Tax implications

- Investigate tax laws
  - By county
  - By state
  - By country
- Consider capital gains
- Consider donations
  - Tax deduction
If everything fails, Take it with you!
"I'm sorry, but rules are rules. 'You can't take it with you,' also applies to stamp collections."

Reprinted with permission of Bill Shelly - Canadian Stamp News
References

- See list of references
  - http://stamps.org/Estate-Planning
  - http://www.inheritedstampcollection.com/index.htm